Three High School Seniors Win Pep Boys Competition

Three high school seniors today were named as winners in Pep Boys ninth Annual Traffic Safety Essay competition, which made them eligible to win Pep Boys 9th Annual four-year engineering scholarship to a state college or university. Stanley R. Tomer of Montebello, Michael L. Jeub of Beaumont and John T. Rutherford of Ontario each won a $50 savings bond and a special trophy for his essay on the subject "What I would do to prevent traffic accidents and save lives." Murray Rosenfeld, executive vice president and general manager of the Pep Boys Auto Supply Stores, made the awards at the company's general offices in Los Angeles.

The panel of judges who selected the essay winners consisted of Municipal Court Judge Harold Sheperd, California Highway Patrol Inspector R. A. Kridler, Joseph Kaplan, general manager of the National Safety Council's Los Angeles Chapter, and Professor J. H. Mathewson, Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at UCLA.
